

CAPTAIN A. E. LOHMANN
... 24-year veteran

U.S. Navy Veteran Assumes New Post

A 24-year Navy veteran with an extensive background in aircraft production and aeronautical research and development, Captain E. A. Lohmann has assumed his new post as Bureau of Naval Weapons Representative at the Douglas Aircraft Company's El Segundo Division.

The new El Segundo Bu-WepsRep, a resident of Palos Verdes, relieves Captain R. M. Gibbons, another Palos Verdes resident, who retired from Naval service last month.

Capt. Lohmann makes his home at 549 Paseo Lunado, Palos Verdes, with his wife and four children. One son Eric, is following in his father's footsteps. He is a first year student at the Naval Academy at Annapolis. Other children are, daughter, Marianne, and sons, Dennis and Ronald.

Actors Present Famous Plays at City Plunge

Producing works in the theater in the round, members of the Footlight Theatre of Torrance are uttering a call for help, a call for directors.

Currently, the group is rehearsing two major plays with only one director, Herman Goodman, a sixth grade instructor at Edison Elementary School.

Members of the theater are comprised of semi-professional actors, usually occupied as physicists, teachers, plasterers, housewives, etc.

The group, which rehearses at McGruder School, 182 Prairie, presents its round productions at the Torrance Plunge.

"Heaven Can Wait," the thespians' next play, is scheduled for late September and early October. Following that will be "All My Sons, and "Laddy Precious Stream, a delightful Chinese fantasy.

Goodman, who resides at 18702 Cerise, mentioned that professional experience is not necessary for positions with the organization.

Being in its second year, chartered by the Torrance Recreation Department, the group has previously presented "Dear Ruth," and "Night Must Fall."

WHERE IT HURTS

Capital punishment is when the government taxes you to get capital in order to go into business in competition with you, and then taxes the profits on your business in order to pay its losses.
